Five thousand $'s worth of new goods at Alden & Merriam's.

Go to the S. F. Dry Goods Store for your dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, etc.

THE Democratic speaker announced for Saturday night did not put in an appearance.

TAKE a dollar and get your boy a suit at Alden & Merriam's; take also $40 and get one for yourself.

J. W. McMillen has the contract for building the new STAR office, and has lumber on the ground.

EXTRA family flour from Lake county, at Carver's, in quantities to suit, at less price than any other flour.

INDIANA hasn't scared J. B. Straus a bit, and don't you forget it. He came home yesterday with more new goods.

DR. HITCHCOCK has a blue gum tree 8 years old, from which 62 feet in length has been cut, and it is now about 80 feet high.

H. C. Hopkins, of Ink's ranch, Pine Station, shows us an apple with a blossom on the stem. The fruit is ripe and the blossom perfect.

HON CHANCELLOR HARTSON, Judge J. S. Robinson and A. J. Hull, Esq., speak here to-morrow evening. Turn out and hear them.

A ST. HELENA man hollered "yum-yum" at an interesting love scene in the Bush Street theatre the other night, and set the house in an uproar. Who was he?

JOHN HAGLEY, a 12-year-boy living on Howell Mountain, fell down and broke his right arm while playing Tuesday morning. He was brought into town and surgical aid rendered.

Home Made Coffee.—Mr. B. W. Roberson, of Napa, who has lately established coffee and spice mills there, was here Wednesday, introducing his goods among our people, and we are informed met with very general encouragement. This is right, for home manufactures should have the preference all the time, where quality and price are equal, and Mr. R. informs us that he can sell here cheaper than the goods can be had in San Francisco for. A sample of the coffee left with us is very nice, and we would recommend our people to try it.

Improvements at Schram's.—Jacob Schram's, though famous in reputation for wine, has hitherto been very modest in architectural pretensions. Now it promises to take on style, commensurate with its merit. At a recent visit there, Mr. Schram showed us a general diagram of a cellar and dwelling he is about commencing which will give it something of the appearance of a castle on the Rhine. It will be 125 feet front by sixty feet deep and 2 stories high, the back part running into the hill. At each end is a massive tower considerably higher than the building, and projecting in front of it ten feet. A part of the rear is already made by the excavation of a large new cellar into the hillside. In front, and partly between the two towers is the dwelling, a large and handsome building, where Mr. Schram proposes to receive with his usual hospitality those who visit "Schramsburg." In front of the dwelling the ground will be graded up for a roadway (because the place is on rapidly sloping ground) and in front of the grading, a stone bulkhead. The work will go forward again as soon as the vintage is over.

Wine Making.

The editor has visited several wine-cellars, imbibed numerously and gained some information:

L. Kortum, at Calistoga, will make 40,000 to 50,000 gallons.

W. W. Lyman will make about 10,000 gallons.

Jacob Schram will make 20,000 gallons.

C. T. McEachran missed the pleasure of our company and saved some good wine, by being out when we called.

Dr. Hitchcock makes no wine this year, having sold his grapes.

John C. Weinberger makes about 80,000 gallons. His facilities are very much improved over former years, crushing under a large awning on the roof of the new cellar.

J. Laurent makes about 35,000 gallons.

Chas. Krug makes about 235,000 gallons.

Beringer Brothers make about 175,000 gallons. Their splendid establishment is a model of a winery, and seems to be about as near perfect in its line as things earthly get to be. The hauler empties his grapes right on the carrier. That carries them directly into the crusher, which grinds them through at the rate of 10 to 15 tons an hour. It separates the stems and throws them out clean and dry. It lets the juice through into a vat, whence it is conducted by pipes to any desired place. The pumace it piles up ready by opening a gate, to be slid out into cars, by which it goes readily to any part of the roofs of the two cellars and is slid down through hatches into tanks below. All goes by steam. The steam is furnished from the boiler in the distillery, and is applied by a separate engine on the floor of the crushing room. The whole is one of Heald's best outfits and is a comfort to the owner as well as credit to the builder.

Gila Brothers, at Mrs. Bourn's cellar on Sulphur Spring Avenue, make about 30,000 gallons. They expect to build a cellar of their own next year.

J. H. McCord, at Oak Grove cellar, makes 50,000 gallons. His new cellar looks gorgeous in bright paint, and is beautifully situated "under the trees" whence it takes its name.

H. A. Pellet makes 25,000 gallons—all from his own grapes—an income, we should think, handsome enough to satisfy the ambition of any moderate man.

H. W. Crabb, Oakville, we have not visited since wine making; but learn from the Register that he makes about 225,000 gallons.

Brun & Chaix, Oakville, make 100,000 gallons. They run three crushers, have a private railroad of their own, have a handsome cellar and are live men.

August Jeannmond, Oakville, makes 25,000 gallons.

John Thomann makes about 130,000 gallons. He has a large and splendidly equipped establishment, driven by steam. His grapes are also handled very expeditiously, going up to the crusher by carrier, and the pumace being distributed by movable railroads throughout the cellars.

E. W. Woodward makes about 5,000 gallons.

William Scheffer makes about 170 to 180,000 gallons. He too, has an extensive and complete establishment for the manufacture of wine, and uses besides his fine place at Edge Hill, one or two other cellars outside. He informs us that the grapes turn out about 20 per cent. better than expected.

Knight & Bromley.

Knight and Bromley spoke here Saturday night according to announcement, and received a rousing reception, getting one of the largest audiences St. Helena has ever had. The Republicans were more than pleased with their gallant young candidate for Congress and have resolved to give him a hearty support. He will draw too, if we mistake not heavily from the other side. His speech was a splendid one and pleased all. Mr. Bromley closed with one of his characteristic speeches of wit, humor, recitation, sly hits and graphic passages, and kept his audience in a good humor until a late hour. The young Garfielders, as usual, turned out, and added much to the interest of the occasion. A brass band from Napa was also brought into service.

Repainting the Catholic Church. Messrs. Andrews & Shovin are repainting the Catholic church building; the ground work a light French gray, trimmings a darker shade of the same color. The roof is painted with Price's metallic. Inside, the doors will be grained and the altar retouched. The effect of the whole is very pretty, and adds much to the beauty of the building, while it is a good card for the workmen. The same firm are also painting Mr. Scheffer's new dwelling and the large addition to Mrs. Bourn's residence.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs W. B. Bourn wishes to return her sincere thanks to all those who so promptly and kindly rendered their assistance in extinguishing the fire which occurred on her premises on Monday, the 11th. of this month.

Saturday, Oct. 10th, 1880.

Dr. Card is going to occupy the rehabilitated Calderwood cottage, next to Kettlewell's paint shop.

Rutherford Items.

Hank Grotegueth, of Pope Valley, met with a painful accident at the depot last Saturday. While carrying a sack of wheat across a plank, from his wagon to the platform, he slipped, falling a distance of eight feet, the sack and plank both falling on him, forcing his face into the gravel. He was badly disfigured but no bones broken.

The recent frosts have damaged the second grape crop so badly that in some localities it is wholly destroyed.

Some of the wine cellars are unable to receive grapes as fast as they are gathered, there by causing loss to the growers.

John Stecker has sold sixty acres of his fine ranch land to Messrs. Davis and Amesbury, of Lake Co. They will improve with buildings and vineyard.

The wheat shipment for the week amounts to 6,300 sacks.

Six thousand pounds of wool have been shipped thus far this season.

Burglary.—Albert Van Voorhees, working at John Stecker's, came up to the speaking Saturday night, and about half past two o'clock next morning was discovered by Mr and Mrs Geo. Osborn in their dwelling. They caught him, marched him around to see if he had stolen anything and nothing appearing missing, and he saying he had walked in through an open door, they let him go. They discovered afterward, however, that he had broken in through a window and committed indignities in the house. He was therefore arrested at Mr. Stecker's, by officer James McGee, Monday, and taken to Napa, whence he was sent back here for preliminary examination yesterday when he was held to answer.

Map of St. Helena.—E. W. Woodward & Co. are getting up a map of St. Helena and vicinity, showing the subdivisions of plots and blocks, and all additions to the town, with the location of public buildings; and that portion of Napa Valley from Rutherford to Lyman's mill—a distance of about ten miles, with the topography of the mountains on each side. It will be colored and mounted, and cost not to exceed ten dollars perhaps less if enough copies are subscribed for. Mr. Woodward made the best map of Oakland ever made, and this work, in his hands, is sure to be well done, and will benefit the country much, besides being a useful work of reference. It should be generally subscribed for.

New Advertisement.—All the new Fall Styles in hats and trimmings, handsomer and cheaper than ever, at Mrs. Gordon's. Also those beautiful new broaded ribbons, velvets and painted buttons, children's corsets; in short, an endless variety of nice things. Must be seen to be appreciated. Come one, come all, and secure the greatest bargains of the season. *4t.

AN EXTRA nice assortment of buttons, twists and silks; the largest assortment of corsets—nine different styles—in town, handsome laces, veiling and trimmings of all kinds. A fine line of ladies and children hosiery and union under suits. Dress shields, back and circle combs, nets and all the little articles that help make up a lady's toilet, at Miss McGeorge's.

LOUIS RICHTER'S new saloon is now open and in complete order. It is very neatly arranged and a pleasure to inspect. Louis will be glad to see all his friends there. Give him a call.

WINEGROWERS meeting to-morrow (Saturday) at 3 o'clock. An important meeting will be had, and the phylloxera question discussed. Let all attend. *

FAVES' big regulator clock has been bought for Richter's new saloon. Looks as though they intended to drink on time there.

Nothing so good for chapped lips, cold hands, etc., as G. A. Riggins' Chapped Cream. *

THREE cases of new goods received this week at Miss McGeorge's.

FOURTEEN yards of good prints for $1, at the S. F. Dry Goods Store.

A NEW lot of those excellent 5 cent cigars at Geo. A. Riggins'.

Geo. A. Riggins' sewing machine oil is the best in existence. *

New goods of all kinds, cheaper than ever, at Straus'.

DAVID HUDSON is in town this week.

JOSHUA FRYE, of Rutherford, smiled upon us this morning.

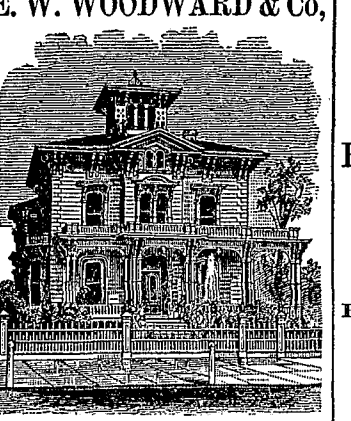

JOHN WHEELER has an article in today's Rural Press about "The Remedy for Phylloxera."

The Garfield and Arthur Club held an interesting meeting last night, at which the principal business transacted was disposing of the question of a nomination for Justice of the Peace in accordance with a notice given elsewhere.

OUR present office is called the Star building; the one now going up will be the Crescent, and by and by we will put one up in the middle for the Sun and call the whole thing Astro-nomical row.

Go down to Alden & Merriam's and disguise yourself as a gentleman in one of their new suits.
